

Abstract

The present invention provides nucleotide sequences from SARS (Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome) coronavirus genomes, as well as the applications of the partial fragments thereof in preparing DNA vaccine or expressing corresponding proteins. Furthermore, the present invention also provides the uses of said proteins in preventing and treating diseases, and preparing antibodies.